Dear Shelly,

How are you I would like to write you this letter to express my deepest apology and regrets for offending you every thing you shared with me was accurate and wisdom from an experienced professional in your field. You are exceptional in your field and in my short time searching for a home and lenders I would like to say you are truly # 1. In more ways than one, you are not just beautiful outside but you are also beautiful inside. You are trustworthy forthright and honest. You are very knowledgeable and it would be a pleasure for anyone to in trust their financial investments with the advice and time and consideration you so diligently give. You are very kind and Thank you very much for all your time. May god bless you in the name of Jesus.

Sincerely, Patricia
